Gen. P. W. Hardin's Encounter With Hon. W. A. Peffer the Champion of the People's Party at Frankfort

The General's Short Work of Him And Does Not Win His Words.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 19th, 91.

EDITOR CLOVERPORT NEWS:

Although the Legislature is not in session and the "Con-Con" has long since closed to be talked of personally yet still the Democrats of Franklin county have enough political gossip to satisfy them. Disheartened by one defeat after another, at the hands of the Democratic party, the Republicans of this county have joined the Farmer's Alliance and together with a few disaffected Democrats, who failed to get office at the hands of the party, they have nominated for representative one whom they claim to be the "People's Party" candidate. The fame of that nomination spread to Kansas and had the effect of bringing a missionary to preach the new doctrine to the people of Kentucky. He came in the person of the Hon. W. A. Peffer the man who in a move of the same kind had defeated the G. O. P. in his own state by defeating John J. Ingalls.

To a citizen of the county of Breckenridge and especially to one raised up in the ancient town of Hardinsburg, where he has been accustomed, under the never-to-be-forgotten maps which surround our court house, to hear discussed the real issues of the day from a very early period of his childhood, and has unconsciously absorbed a good deal of pure Democracy, a political speaking is about the most inviting thing in the world. Actuated by feelings of this nature the writer went round to the old court house at Frankfort to attend the People's Party rally, but his most lamentable fact was that he found a single legal adviser in the county and the participants making very faces. The battle began with a discharge of small arms in the person of J. H. Davis an ex-soldier of Texas who in a fifteen minutes speech depleted the wrongs done the farmer but failed to offer a remedy. This done the Texas returned Senator, elect, Peffer began his argument to come here.

He is an educated man and spoke in a pleasant manner but lacks the imagination which the people expected. He spoke of wrongs which had befallen him and he said that he was not being done the farmer. He said he was not there to discuss the cause but was there to offer a remedy for the evils existing and he said that he was not being done the farmer. He said he was not there to discuss the cause but was there to offer a remedy for the evils existing and he said that he was not being done the farmer. He said he was not there to discuss the cause but was there to offer a remedy for the evils existing and he said that he was not being done the farmer.

Rising from an obscure corner by the door and coming forward with all the eagerness of a Roman gladiator, he seemed the many form of P. W. Hardin, one who is always on hands when there is a political battle to fight, a man who gives no quarter and no name. And so Hardin was loudly cheered by his many admirers and in his own forcible way he proceeded to make mince meat of the Kansas Statesman. He admitted the farmers of the country were in a desperate plight, but said before he offered a medicine he wanted to diagnose the case, he then showed the people the gold robbery of the Republicans and the audience (the Republicans) agreed to it. He then took to the warehouse scheme and showed the impossibility of that. He said if one man had a right to put wheat in a warehouse and take money on it another had the same right to put in saw logs, another coal, the rock quarryman, stone, etc., and that it would take a warehouse reaching from "Ardra's Hill" to the State capitol, about three miles, and fully as broad to hold the produce of Franklin county.

He made the scheme wild and ludicrous and was about to close with an invitation to Democracy when he was informed that his time was up. It was a mistake, however, and General Hardin replied "I want take much more of your time gentlemen, but I do want a few minutes to give you all some Democratic gospel." He did it with a ten minutes speech and then retired and left the audience with his friends. Mr. Peffer replied

In a twenty minutes speech, but like the "Gent" when he stole his rice egg, his power was broken, and his words fell without effect. But Hardin had not his handstamps.

At the conclusion General Hardin was challenged by Mr. Davis the Texas gentleman, for a joint discussion next evening. It was cheerfully accepted, and the writer with his usual curiosity went round to see and hear. Davis is the man who created a sensation some time ago at Cincinnati, by hugging an ex-federal soldier on the stage during the "People's Party" Convention. He is the personification of gall and self conceit, and his language of nearly an hour consisted in calling Mr. Cleveland a tyrant and General Grant a scoundrel. Frankfort has some very intelligent people and when the Alliance orator heaped condemnation upon the right hand bower of their emancipator, and spoke in unfriendly terms of their disaffected leader in battle, the colored man was insulted and more than one his emanated from the lips at the rear end of the building. Davis offered no remedy, except to start a machine and grind out money and give to the people, and in his speech of fifty minutes succeeded in convincing himself that he had made a grand effort, and in convincing the leaders of the "People's Party" that their forces would have been in better shape had he kept out of the county. For the first time in his life General Hardin said he found himself in a debate with nothing to rely on. He said that Mr. Davis lived a "devil" of a long way off, that he did not know much about him, but he looked like a disappointed gambler, that he had seen Democrats in Kentucky aspire to leaderships and being defeated had gone off after false gods, and he thought he was a decided resemblance between that class here and the tall gentleman from Texas. Somebody says Mr. Hardin, is paying the fiddler. The Farmers' Alliance in the South isn't doing it; for there isn't a single legal adviser in that section in the "People's Party" Convention. The farmers in Kentucky are against this move, for only this afternoon we received communication from that grand old man from Christian county, Dr. Clark, that he would be here in a few days to warn the farmers against it. Who is it then? Who is paying the fiddler? Who is leading him to leave a lucrative law practice in Texas and come here? Mr. Hardin is a pleasant man but lacks the imagination which the people expected. He spoke of wrongs which had befallen him and he said that he was not being done the farmer. He said he was not there to discuss the cause but was there to offer a remedy for the evils existing and he said that he was not being done the farmer.

KENTUCKY WAR CLAIMS.

An Official Abstract Forwarded to Washington For $120.00.

Frankfort, Ky., July 16.—(Special).—Adjutant General Sam E. Hill said today that he had just completed and forwarded to the Third Auditor of the Treasury, at Washington, an abstract of the fourteenth installment of the Kentucky war claims, with a memorandum of proof taken from the records of the Adjutant General's office. This abstract aggregates $120,000, which the Adjutant General says is hopeful will be allowed by the accounting officers of the Treasury. A part of the $75,000, which has already been filed and put under way for verification by the department, is included in the abstract just forwarded; but, in all, it is believed that the next Congress will give Kentucky an appropriation of at least $125,000 yet due on the claim for the ordinance and ordnance stores furnished by the State to the General Government. This claim is distinct from the $600,000 direct tax, to be refunded to Kentucky after the Legislature assembles next winter to accept it from the Government. The claims, however, when paid, will be turned over to the State Treasury.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver, stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in good health, you have a healthy look. If your stomach be disordered you have a dyspeptic look, and if your kidneys are diseased you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is a great alterative and Tonic acting directly on these vital organs. Cures Piles, Rheumatism, and gives a good complexion. Sold at G. W. Short's Drug Store, 50c per bottle.

Governor Buckner Can't Endorse.

The Times says: Governor Buckner returned home yesterday from a six weeks' visit in the East, and when "drawn out" on the subject of the National Constitution which has been undergoing such general discussion in his absence, he said: "My personal relations of friendship with the members of the Constitutional Convention inspire me with a strong desire to vote for an instrument which, as a body, they have presented to the people for ratification. There is much in the instrument to commend itself to favorable consideration, and much that is objectionable. My views were very distinctly expressed during the sittings of the convention, and I have not found reason to change them. The excessive indulgence in legislation by the convention in matters of taxation and in many other respects cannot be but harmful in depriving the General Assembly of the right to legislate on matters which should be left to their discretion, within proper constitutional restrictions. What seems most objectionable to me is the indorsement in the Constitution of the principal of protection, giving the right, virtually, of taxing entire communities for the benefit of a few manufacturers. With every desire to act in harmony with my associates, I have not reached the conclusion to vote for the constitution."

DeWitt's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, increases the appetite and tones up the system. It has benefited many people who have suffered from blood diseases. It will help you. Sold by G. W. Short.

A big barbecue is billed for the old Union place, near Union Star, for Saturday, August 1st.

For SALE—A canopy top, Phonon manufacturing Co. Louisville. A bargain J. B. Fisher, Cloverport.

Mr. Jas. E. Cannon, a prominent young man of Louisville, died last Wednesday of typhoid fever. He was in his 25th year.

The Cloverport Brick plant is turning out some of the finest brick you ever saw. The enterprise is a success in every way, and the directors are in high feather.

Mr. Joe Bland, of Irvington, came down Saturday with Mr. Williams' young station, Splendor. He shipped to Evansville, Ind., where he will go in training for the track.

A third brick plant, for the manufacture of pressed brick, has been organized in this city. An option on the land has been given, and as soon as the company completes its organization the work of construction will begin.

Richard Thurman, the sixteen year old son of Harrison Thurman, died last Thursday night of typhoid fever. He was a hale, hearty, young man, and his sudden death was quite a shock to his parents as well as the community.

Mr. J. A. Barry bought of Miss Eliza Newton last week the vacant lot on the corner of second and Houston streets for $750. Mr. Barry will go ahead at once to erect a handsome two story frame dwelling for his own use. This is a very desirable location, and Mr. Barry will have a very pretty home.

The work on the new jail at Hardinsburg is progressing slowly on account of the severity of the weather. The foundation is completed and the work on the walls is far enough advanced to show that it is going to be a very substantial and beautiful building. The Commissioners are guarding every point of construction and the consequence will be that the people will have a good house well constructed and an honor to the county.

There is nothing wrong at the Brick Plant. It was reported yesterday that the kiln that is being burned with gas exploded, but there was no truth in it. One of the iron bands that encircle the kiln parted but occasioned no delay or loss. Manager O'Leary says everything is working in tip top order and they are making brick at the rate of about 25,000 a day.

Mr. O'Leary says the gas makes a very powerful heat, and his men not understanding it thoroughly, turned on a little too much which caused the bands to expand very rapidly and burst. He says they have plenty of gas to run all their machinery and one kiln which is a big saving in the cost of fuel.

Judge Murray at Princeton.
PRINCETON, Ky., July 16.—(Special to Courier-Journal).—Caldwell-county people were treated to an old-fashioned love feast of Democracy here today. By previous arrangement Judge John Allen Murray and the Hon. C. W. Buck spoke to a fair-sized audience.

Judge Murray took the lead, and in his usual eloquent manner he contrasted the legislation enacted by the Democrats with that of the Republicans, showing that of the former had always been in the interest of the masses, and all combined they tended to oppress the people, while that enacted by the Republicans fostered and nurtured all such combinations, trusts or similar institutions.

He dealt the Republican party some severe blows for their past conduct in this direction, and in a forcible manner illustrated their many acts of reckless legislation. Judge Murray also combined the past and his remarks on this occasion made a favorable impression on the people. He also dealt the third party movement some heavy blows.

WE TOLD YOU SO

Stragglers are coming into camp. People who thought they could not afford a new Casimere or Worsted Suit this summer have found our new "price list" such an inducement that they can both look and feel respectable at a small cost, and as a result the empty seat in the pew at church is there no more; the wife is pleased and happy, and we are satisfied.

The same prices continue this week, when we hope to gather in more converts.

We have said it before, and say it again: Our clothing is the best in the city, because it is our own manufacture, and every garment is stamped with the mark of honesty.

A Statement from S. C. Dowell.

GOSFORD, KY., July 17th, 1891.

EDITOR BRECKENRIDGE NEWS:

Dear Sir—In your last week's issue you published a certificate from Mr. W. A. Allen of this county, that somewhat conflicts with the statement furnished by Mr. Harned by myself in regard to the Alliance movement, concerning the Legislative race in this county. As we concluded that statement by saying that if Mr. Sevens was inclined to doubt the same, that we would furnish him all the information that he would likely want upon the subject. We will proceed to give a little history of the Alliance movement in regard to this matter. To begin at something near the beginning, there was a citizen's meeting called by some of the members of the Alliance, to be held at Paysonville some time in March, probably about the 10th. The object of the meeting was to nominate or take some steps in that direction, a man to make the race for the Legislature independent of any political party. He didn't have to be a Democrat, he didn't have to be a Republican, neither was it necessary that he must be a member of the Alliance, but he must be an advocate of certain principles and be subject to the vote of the people, not subject to any one party or party of those. About the first of that motion that was considered by that body, was to ascertain whether they thought it advisable to make such a nomination, then or at any time. When the vote was taken it carried by a large majority, very few voting in the negative. The next thing they decided was to make no nomination on that occasion, but to fix a time and place for that purpose. The place was Brandenburg, the time, the First or Second Saturday in April, we have forgotten.

They then appointed a committee to draft a platform upon which this candidate, whoever he might be, was to make this race. There were also the names of three gentlemen presented. The platform as drafted by the committee, was read and adopted and Mr. William Allen was nominated to make the race as we have described. A committee of three was then appointed to notify Mr. Allen of his nomination. We think that a certificate from this committee notified Mr. Allen of his nomination is likely to be the case in our statement or any one else's, as regards the manner in which he was notified. So here is their certificate, also signed by the chairman of the meeting.

Respectfully,

S. C. DOWELL.

OAK GROVE, July 17th, 1891.

This is to certify that at a citizens' meeting at Brandenburg in which Mr. William Allen was nominated, to make the race for the Legislature in Meade county. We were appointed as a committee to notify him of his nomination, and that we deny that he was nominated to make the race as a Democrat any more than he was nominated to make it as a Republican, and we deny that we notified him in any such manner. We merely suggested to him that under the present circumstances we considered him an available man to make the race because he had been a Democrat.

W. H. MILLER, R. S. LUTHER, CHARLES BAYNESS, Committee.

ELISHA ASHCRAFT, Chairman.

In conclusion we say that if it was necessary that we can furnish very readily to a hundred witnesses as reliable men as Meade county affords that will bear us out in our statement in regard to this matter; however I hope this will be satisfactory.

Respectfully,

S. C. DOWELL.

Attention Voters.

I was notified on Monday by one of Dr. Harned's chief supporters that he intended to start rumors and reports on me. I asked what they were and he refused to tell me, but said I would hear them. His was an impudent remark of an excited man, but it shows the kind of fight I am confronted with. I ask all voters to look out for those rumors and be forewarned that they will be concocted and started with deliberate purpose to mislead the people. "Whom the gods destroy they first make mad," and the opposition seating defeat ahead, are leading and biting. To my friends I wish to say that victory is ours and is to be reached by each man doing his duty.

Respectfully,

D. H. SEVENS, Hardinsburg, Ky.
